

Poll signs hanging on

■ NOW I know the changes have just be implemented, but it seems some areas of the region formerly under the umbrella of Beaudesert shire council are hanging on to the past.

On Teviot Rd (near Stoney Camp Rd), in Greenbank, there remains a large Beaudesert shire council sign. But since March 15 no such council exists – the shire was severed and the northern section added to what is now one big happy Logan City family.

On the matter of signs, it seems one mayoral candidate has forgotten to remove the odd sign or two.

Seen beaming from trees along Teviot Rd is the face of former State Government minister Tom Barton calling for residents to vote for him for the Logan mayoralty.

Maybe he is leaving them up there for the 2012 poll.

Students score goals

■ GETTING out and getting active was made a whole lot easier at Browns Plains State School last week.

Member for Rankin Craig Emerson scored a direct hit at the primary school when he donated $100 worth of soccer balls on Thursday.

Pupils from 7G are currently studying the skills of soccer at school so happily accepted the gift from the federal member.

Physical education teacher Clayton Kearney said the pupils were delighted with the new sporting goods.

“The students are grateful to Mr Emerson for his donation and they will use them in class and training for their soccer,” Mr Kearney said.

Wisdom shared

■ ANNUAL general meetings aren't known for being “not to be missed” events on most people's calendars.

This can't be said for Greenbank RSL's AGM last Sunday. Guest speaker at the club's official meeting was none other than Brisbane Broncos coach Wayne Bennett, pictured.

Fresh from his announcement he would steer the St George Dragons coaching team for four years from 2009, Bennett took time out of his hectic schedule to address the members.

Bennett is known to be a man of few words so the Leader is guessing any pearls he shared with the members were lapped up.

Greenbank RSL conducts a highly successful junior development rugby league program in partnership with Brisbane Broncos (with the help of former Broncos' star Michael Hancock) and we are guessing Bennett's attendance at the meeting stems from this.
